Christmas comes and years begin by calendars - by pages with months and figures printed on them, and by conventions and agreement and the persuasion of old custom. But in another sense, of course, Christmas can come and new years begin at any day or hour or moment for any one of us.

That is because Christmas is an attitude of the spirit, and a "new year" can begin with any clock tick if our thoughts and feelings undergo some penetrating change.

But whoever tries to write a year-end greeting to his friends finds that he can offer nothing but platitudes - nothing but hackneyed phrases and the sleepiest of bromides. There is nothing new to say on these occasions, because all wishes and all wisdom are alike very old. So on this page I can only repeat what you all know, or at least have heard before, and value according to your own standards and practice in your own ways.

I remind you - and let us all reflect - that though we may have had troubles, vexations and losses, these have passed away or are already passing. This principle is certain and inviolable, since incessant change is everywhere present, from the atom to the Omniverse of stars. From the Law of Impermanence there is nothing which escapes - pain or pleasure, bad fortune or good. Because of Change, experience becomes possible, and out of experience comes knowledge, and from knowledge wisdom and the expansion of life and consciousness. Apart from this expansion human life has no meaning. And to learn from experience and to apply that knowledge is the one and only hope we have for the bettering of our future.

Sorrow and pain and loss are the obverse side of the coins of joy and pleasure and gain. Can you demand that a coin have one side only, or reject it because both sides are not equally pleasing? There is a deeper wisdom, known of old time, which says: Do not flee from pain nor invite it, but receive it and all that comes to you as a form of experience, of life and of action, saying, 'I know thee for what thou art; thou art _me_ and _mine_, and thy power and day are in my hands.'

So perhaps it is not too wise, at Christmas or New Year time, to wish each other the rose-path only, ease and joy and full prosperity, gains without effort and sacrifice. Such wishes are foolish and impossible. Rather let us wish each other the power to learn and to grow, and especially to _serve_, since this is the true road to personal advancement. Especially too the inward poise and quietude which are necessary to service, and the need for which grows increasingly great.

Kyrie Eleison - (ml).

. . . . . As I heard you say in your office the other day, there is a world of sound information in the publications you were looking at, provided one can ignore the religionistic approach. Your earth and the solar system and the stellar universe itself, are undergoing a considerable change. The systems are moving into new positions in "space". This will bring about a change in gravitational or etheric pressures. The changes apply to the galaxies, rather than to lesser systems or individual bodies. In regard to the announcements from your astronomers about a great reduction in astronomical distances, this arises largely from the strong impulse in the little minds of men to reduce great things to small in order to understand them. But when you seek to put all of the island universes together, you will find that they constitute a truly endless field of matter. Nevertheless, the planets in your solar system are also affected. There has to be a change in the motion of these bodies, since what affects one, affects all. Some of them will not have the same attractive power over others, due to mass weight -- the pull will not be so great. Some bodies will separate from the island universes, and that which was once a planet with active life, will become a dark body in space- a floating body of ice. Others will move closer to the sun and be destroyed in one way or another. They may receive such great cosmic radiation as will destroy all life, even of plants, for these also are forms of conscious life.

In regard to your Grand Canyon and many other great fissures of the earth, they were brought about at a time when the crust was more or less in a liquified state, and the earth was being wracked and torn by violent quakes. These, then, are actual rents in the earth's surface. If a quake is violent enough to flatten mountain ranges (as recently in Tibet), it can also tear open such fissures. The coloring in the rocks of the Grand Canyon is due to the great heat and to the cooling by tremendous forces, the like of which you cannot imagine. These came after the first ice age. There werealso great periods of no rain at all, and during this time the earth received a tremendous amount of radiant heat from the suns, drying things to an extent so that even the rocks were split apart. Every chemical substance has its own color radiation, or has the power to produce a particular color under right conditions. In that drying period millions of tons of dust were taken into the air, and later rains returned this to the earth. These rains were red, black, and other colors.

The reason or function of this dust was to be treated by higher vibration rates of the sun -- that is, by ultra-violet rays which impregnated dust particles with life force, and these particles were then encased in water drops, and so returned to the earth.

Of course, these rains can hardly be described in words. They were like a solid wall which one could not walk through. In your time-scheme, this took place about one and one half billion years ago. The first ice age of which I spoke, came before these rains. And man was here on earth before this first ice age.

This man-being had a black skin, and heavy hair on his head and over his body. This hair was wiry and kinky. It was more like wire than like hair. It served as a protection to the skin from outer injury, and also acted as an insulator against electrical forces.

This man was thirty to forty feet in height, and was the most feared of all things on the planet. His weight was commensurate with his height, that is to say, it would be measured in tons like that of the whales of your oceans. These beings as a rule did not return to earth after their death. They were all males -- no females among them. You may think of them, if you like, as experiments on the part of etheric entities who projected them. Some of them, however, became locked in the structure of the material world and in a sense, are still present.

To these great beings there came other beings of an angelic order, and in female form, out of the ether. These were not born on the earth plane in the usual sense, but by what you might call a process of materialization. They were equal in size to the great males, and they mated with them. This mating produced a much higher type of being of smaller size, ten to twelve feet in stature, and very intelligent. These huge beings were destroyed after these matings, by violent action on the part of the Etheric Guardians of the earth.

There is a kind of these angelic beings still existing, both male and female, and they can be evoked by proper magical operations. They can then gain great strength by taking energy from the bodies of dying animals. They have a definite work to do -- it is that of scavengers of energy not needed by man or other life forms on your earth. There are scavengers on every plane of existence. *

With regard to the so-called 'whistling stars', all bodies in space have their tones. The ethers are good transmitters, and the tones "bounce" great distances before striking the earth. This is because the three-dimensional particles (electrons) of inter-stellar space are widely separated, and "bounce" the tones about before they can strike the atmosphere of the earth.

One other item: If you could look inside of many of the flying discs, you would find that most of their action is produced by light-waves originated by the operators within the ship. Those Kareetas which appear to you to have something like a jet propulsion, are operated in this manner. The etherian operators themselves have the size, shape and structure of their bodies completely under their own mental control, and can provide themselves with lungs for your atmosphere, or with gills like a fish, or with any other device they find useful at the time.

* Note: Compare the concept of the Obverse Qlippoth in Esoteric Qabalism.

The Yada di Shi'ite has long been one of the most prominent and highly esteemed of the Mark Probert trance Controls. Studies ofthis mediumship began in 1946 and have produced a wealth of important material.

- PYRAMIDS, CONES, BACILLI -

PSYCHIC NEWS (Lon.) of September 27, '52, quotes from the French magazine Radiesthesia pour Tous, article by M. Pommeret. 'It is extraordinary' says the NEWS in effect, 'that a small model of the Great Pyramid of Cheops, proportionally correct, has the same mummifying properties as the Pyramid itself, provided one side is facing North.'

'Writing in Radiesthesis pour Tous, M. Pommeret asserts that by keeping a razor blade under a paper pyramid made in the right proportion and with one side facing north, he was able to use the same blade for several years without sharpening. He obtained this information from friends in Czechoslovakia (where good blades are scarce), and says he knows several people who have obtained similar good results. He suggests a model pyramid having the triangles (sides) 23 cm at base and "corners" 22 cm. The Psychic News editor recommends a pyramid 6¼ x 6" for preserving meat, fish, etc. (1 cm. is .3937 inches. One inch is 2.54 cm., Stick the triangles together with scotch tape). A doctor in Australia reports that his razor blade "lasted 78 days instead of the usual seven."

The Psychic News continues by quoting Dr. Roger Weissenbach of Bologna, an assistant at the Radiesthetic Research Center. He experimented with a cardboard pyramid having dimensions proportional to the pyramid of Cheops and reported (1) that the pendulum vibrates when suspended over the vertex, provided no side is facing north. (2) If one side faces north the pendulum remains stationary (3) If the pendulum is held over the hand of a person carrying a pyramid on his head it will gyrate in an opposite direction when the person turns so that one side of the pyramid is facing north. "Does this mean the inversion of human polarity or its momentary annulment?"

Returning to his former experiments, in which he as well as many other eminent radiesthetists have shown that such pyramids, oriented toward the north, have the power of dessicating and mummifyingorganic matter (meat, mice, bats, fruit, etc.), he goes on to point out that in every case where there were larvae present, these have always tried, even from the start of the experiment, to get out of the pyramid. If they failed they were mummified on the base or along with their host - provided one side of the pyramid was facing north. "These small creatures must have felt some sensation of mortal danger threatening them". But what about men? Four friends of Dr. W. experimented with a small pyramid, oriented north, on their heads.

After five or six minutes all experienced disagreeable physical and psychical effects. The head felt a sensation of heaviness and cold, with itching of the skin over the forhead, oppression of the temples and a dulling of the mental functions. If the experiment was prolonged there was a sensation of suffocation and nausea, with acute disturbance of the digestive system.

Tests with Bacteria: For each kind there were three of the usual dishes.One was placed in a pyramid with one side facing north, a second in a pyramid not so oriented, and the third left out in the open.

The pyramids were provided with small windows covered with cellophane to facilitate observation. On the third and fourth days therewas a notable decrease in the cultures under the oriented pyramid, and this increased daily until the end of the experiment, when it was found that the microorganism had been killed off in the culture.

Meanwhile Dr. Fina of Palermo carried out experiments with the typhus bacillus. These bacteria did not develop in the dish which had been placed under the oriented pyramid, while there was a free development of those placed outside. CESPERA (Center of Radiesthetic Research) is continuing these experiments to ascertain if definite general conclusions can be drawn from these data.

Alleged findings of this sort, even when supported by well-known investigators, receive very little attention in this country. This is true of the whole field of radiesthesia, which is having a remarkable and highly complex development in England and continental Europe. In the book entitled THE AURAMETER, recently issued by the BSRA, a chapter is devoted to the rays or forces emanating from cones. The nature of the rays is determined by the angle of the cone, the material of which it is made, and on whether the wide end of the cone is sealed over or left open. Apart from the evidence of the Aurameter, the existence of the rays can be shown by directing the tip of a cone at a properly adjusted radio receiver, the 'howl' of which is modified by altering the position of the cone or intercepting the rays. Further, experiments by the inventor of the Aurameter, V.L. Cameron, indicate that certain infections and microorganisms are destroyed by treatment with the rays - as is said to be done by the pyramids also, in the CESPERA experiments.

The Aurameter also shows that rays emanate from pyramids, though not so powerfully as from cones. With regard to the effect of orienting one face of the pyramid toward the magnetic north,it will be interesting to see whether the aurameter will detect any difference. The theory that the pyramids are effective, or more effective when their measurements are proportional to those of the the Egyptian pyramids, should have very careful statistical examination. One could construct plausible theories about all this, but first of all the data demand a purely factual study.

It is probable that the time will come when all germs, bacteria, microorganisms of all kinds, as well as processes of cell metabolism will be effectively controlled by rays or emanations now unknown to us, and chemical treatments will be discarded. Sterilization of any surface or of internal organs of the body will be quick, thorough, and painless. All this, of course, if the development of such studies is not interrupted by catastrophe or by human bigotry and stupidity.

It takes a little time and patience to use the Aurameter success - fully - it is a new instrument so far as the publid is concerned. But a great number of people are using the pendulum in different forms, and anyone can make elementary tests with the pyramids. We hope that many of our Associates will look into this matter for themselves - keep us informed of any definitive results.

THE YADA TALKS ABOUT FLYING SAUCERS

(Question: May we ask about "flying saucers? Tell us what they are?

(The Yada: I will do my best to answer).

In telling you I hope my words do not become too trying on your nerves or imagination or credulity. Man is always looking for phenomena. If only he would look into a mirror he would see phenomena. These space things, they exist not on any natural planet in your space. They have a vast and highly cultured civilization in this that you move your hands in and call air. It is air to you, yes; but in matter it is very real, concrete, solid, and every body in your heavens has its etheric counterpart. In this etheric counterpart are beings that are Guardians of that body - yet not alone of that body, for they move through all space and time. Those that you call saucers and discs we call God-man in flight - Kareeta. But you have become so cynical, you no longer see God except green god . These beings have been making themselves known to your world for aeons of time. They have come to study the conditions of your earth in all of its different aspects. They know now that the crust of your earth is disintegrating much faster than in many thousands of years before - I mean the under-crust of your earth. They know too that you in your supposedly advanced state have been polluting your atmosphere with atomic energy. Perhaps you have heard of great green flashes and blue flashes in your sky. These are forces or energies sent to absorb the radiations you are poisioning your atmosphere with. Then these beings send out balls of light; they contain balls of energy. They are sensitive plates and are used for photographing the inside and outside of your scientific in - ventions, plans - many other things. When the photograph is made the device is sent back to what is called natural state. You understand? You have today what is called television - it is almost on the same principle, only better, for they can photograph things at great distance, inside and out, and when their use is finished they disintegrate them - that is all. You asked if any humans are in touch with these beings,and I say yes to you, sincerely and honestly, but it will mean nothing to you, it will not be proof or true to you, because I cannot tell you who they are. You can try to communicate with them if you wish, by showing them colored lights such as they display, but if you attack them the results will be very unhappy for your world. They can retaliate by disrupting the mechanical field that holds the plane together. It will disintegrate. In time they will make themselves known and their purpose for appearing. . .

The above paragraphs are from stenogrpahic transcript of a meeting recently held in Los Angeles, Calif. - deep-trance mediumship of Mark Probert. Subscribers to the Transcripts will receive the whole of this recording (8 pgs). These are sent out at irregular intervals, 10 issues for $5.00, from BSRA Hdqrs.

THE LECTURES OF JOHN S. EASON

BSRA Hdqrs. is in receipt of nine synopses of lectures delivered by John S. Eason, during 1949-50-51-52, in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Mr. Eason is a well-known Canadian lecturer, formerly of Vancouver, B.C., and apparently is or was affiliated with the British-Israel movement in Canada. The Synopses are printed by the Periscope Publishing Co., 57 Bloor St., W., Toronto, Canada, and correspondence should be sent to that address.

As all our BSR Associates know, our publications have never supported any particular cult or Order, or any special form of religionism, but at the same time have tried to be thoroughly ecclectic. This means that we do not reject important data from any source - and also that we do NOT commit ourselves to any special authority or body of teachings. With regard to Mr. Eason's lectures, we cannot pass upon the question of the Birthright Tribes of Israel, nor get involved in the complications of scriptural prophecy. But except for a passing reference, Mr. Eason does not mention the former of these; and his discussion of biblical prophesies is legitimate and interesting. The prophetic element in the Bible, as in innumerable other books, is conspicuous, and often seems to bear directly upon present day events. It is this bearing which chiefly interests Mr. Eason.

Of equal or greater interest to me is the accumulation of documented factual and scientific data, presented in non-technical but accurate language. They are more than curiosa; they are, so to speak, innumerable 'pointers' toward events of grave planetary significance. And they repeat and substantiate in scores of instances, facts and interpretations received over a period of years from the Mark Probert Controls. The Controls themselves have volunteered a similar comment, though dissociating themselves from any cultist and religionistic approach. This parallelism and agreement is so close as to be startling, and it is largely for this reason that I advise our Associates to obtain some or all of the Synopses here listed. I should add, that the contents of these lectures is not derived from psychic or mediumistic sources, that I have almost no information about Mr. Eason, and that the material stands on its own basis so far as my own comments are concerned.

In more general terms, nearly all "borderland" data, metaphysical and occult knowledge has been excluded from the official science of the Western world, to become a kind of homeless wanderer. Like an earthbound entity, it is part of our life here but unrecognized and unwelcome. It has found a precarious refuge in religions, Orders and Cults, which makes it even more suspect to our smug scientism. Yet the end of this anomaly is already at hand. Speculative science can no longer be distinguished from metaphysics, nor can science longer ignore the vast accumulations of esoteric, 'occult' and 'psychic' data. Age-old knowledge (as of the etheric worlds and peoples) is being thrust upon us whether we like it or not. Those who cannot or will not try to understand this must perforce learn in their own time and way - perhaps in some very hard way.

- OUR 'STEEMED CONTEMPORARIES -

PREDICTION October'52 Article Healing Rays, by Harvey Day: .....'At Oxford recently Mr. George De la Warr showed me an X-ray photograph he had taken of a thought. He asked a collaborator to retain in his mind the exact picture of a half-open penknife so that he could recall it for two consecutive seconds. The knife was then put away and the collaborator asked to concentrate his mind and visualize it . An X-ray photograph was taken of the space in front of him, and the negative showed the half-open knife. . . to prove the projection of thought over considerable distance, De la Warr photographed a glass of water in Oxford; the same glass was blessed by a priest in London and again photographed. The second photograph showed a distinct cross superimposed on the glass.'

(The production of visible, often tangible effects, at a distance, by the 'projection' of thought-energy, is a concept completely alien to western 'orthodox' science - but has always been maintained by students of occult matters. Within the last few decades the whole new approach, in Borderland Science, has become riddled with this concept, which is to be regarded as experimentally verified.... This integrates, of course, with the problem and explanation of the Discs (Saucers) - and we can see one reason why it has been almost impossible to get this explanation across to our 'contemporary ancestors'.

Prediction: con. Art. by Margaret Wykes on Indian Medicine Men: ... The final scene (of the 'seance') was always accompained by a howling wind which would start to roar across the top of the tent as soon as the spirit finished speaking. The big tepee would rock and quiver and the audience would quake with fright. A chaotic medley of noise camedown from above - strange voices shrieking above the wind, a clanking and jangling, then a sudden jerk of the entire tent, a flicker of flames, and finally a terrifying yell from the medicine man. Suddenly he would disappear before their eyes, and in the same instant they would hear him yelling for help. Then, "looking up in the direction of the voice, we would see him hanging by one foot at the top of the tent, caught between the covering and the poles, and the men would rush forward with long rods to remove him. . . When he was lifted bodily to the top of the tent he was as tightly clothed as a mummy, yet when he descended to the ground not a stich of clothing remained. .. How he got there no one knew - he said the spirits left him there on the way out."

(Similar phenomena have of course been known in all times and among all races; it is only the crude materialism and incredible naivete of our Western world which tries to discredit them. Now, however, we are confronted with an accumulation of visible, material phenomena which cannot be understood without recourse to metaphysical concepts - happenings which our smug scientism can not deal with. There is no dividing line between 'scientific' and 'occult' facts - or forces, processes, laws, energies, principles tagged with either label. This truism is food for babes - yet too strong for nine-tenths of our 'intellectuals to digest).

EFFECTS OF NEGATIVE EMOTIONS

"One finds many very dangerous effects in the expression of negative emotions. The term 'negative emotions' means all emotions of violence or depression: self-pity, anger, suspicion, fear, annoyance, bordeom, mistrust, jealousy and so on.

"These emotions are a terrible phenomenon. They occupy an enormous place in our life. Of many people it is possible to say that all their lives are regulated and controlled, and in the end ruined, by negative emotions. At the same time negative emotions do not play any useful part at all in our lives. They do not help our orientation, they do not give us any knowledge, they do not guide us in any sensible manner. On the contrary, they spoil all our pleasures, they make life a burden to us and they very effectively prevent our possible development because there is nothing more mechanical in our life than negative emotions.

"Negative emotions can never come under our control. People who think they can control their negative emotions and manifest them when they want to, simply deceive themselves. Negative emotions depend on identification; if identification is destroyed in some particular case, they disappear. The strangest and most fantastic fact about negative emotions is that people actually worship them. I think that, for an ordinary mechanical man, the most difficult thing to realize is that his own and other peoples negative emotions have no value whatever and do not contain anything noble, anything beautiful, or anything strong. In reality, negative emotions contain nothing but weakness and very often the beginning of hysteria, insanity, or crime. The only good thing about them is that being quite useless and artificially created by imagination and identification, they can be destroyed without any loss. And this is the only chance of escape that man has." -- (P. D. Ouspensky)

Weiss and English state that at least one third of all people who go to physicians for treatment, "do not have any definite bodily disease to account for their illness," and that with another third, "the psychic factor is capable of doing more damage than in the first group." They go on to point out that it may be possible that psychological factors come first in causing structural alteration.

In the closing paragraph of their book they say, "Let us continue with the study of man not only as an anatomical and physiological mechanism but as a human being possessed of loves and hates, and urges and passions, capable of disturbing his soul and his body."

The statements from the Edgar Cayce records on these very personal problems of "loves and hates. urges and passions", are clear and disturbingly sharp. (A.R.E.-"Searchlight" - Sept. 15, 1952)

- THE GOBLIN OF THE LOAF -

by DR. NANDOR FODOR

How many housewives, hating drudgery, would not treasure a magic wand by a wave of which duties around the house would be found performed, the dinner made ready and served piping hot? This sounds very attractive in theory, but in practice magic seldom works out so well - there is always something disconcerting about it. The Websters, a family of seven children at Raikes Farm, Beverly, England, discovered this to their own cost. They lived in a haunted farmstead, where strange noises, footsteps, and mysterious choir singing were heard in the night.

What disturbed the family most, was the crumbling away of the bread, which began in the first week of March, 1903. The loaves looked as if they had been gnawed by rats or mice, and no precautions had any effect. They were set in a closed pan with a rat-trap, another trap on top of the lid, the floor was sprinkled with flour, two lengths of cotton were stretched across the room, and the doors were locked. In the morning everything was found intact, but one of the loaves had entirely disappeared, the other had dwindled to half of its original size.

For nearly three months the Websters kept this mystery to themselves. The situation became more and more desperate. Mrs. Webster had seen the end of a loaf waste into nothingness on the kitchen table within an hour. So the services of ex-police-constable Berridge, of Bishop Burton, were requested, and he was put in sole charge of the dairy for several days.

Berridge frankly confessed that he was baffled. He came with two loaves of bread to the farm, and locked them in the dairy with his special lock. The next day they appeared to be all right, but a day after, cutting them open, he found the loaves quite hollow. He suspected faulty baking, but the cavity gradually grew wider and wider, and the second loaf began to dwindle before his eyes. He secreted pieces of bread in other places about the house, but in every instance they wasted to nothing.

Ten leading chemists of Beverly and Hull visited the farm and analyzed the bread. The microscope had not revealed the presence of any microbe or fungus, and they pronounced the bread absolutely pure.

When Mrs. Webster resorted to baking cakes for the household she was relieved to find that though they lay side by side with the blighted bread, they showed no sign of harmful contact. But when the last crumb of bread disappeared, the Goblin of The Loaf attacked the cake, as well.

However, the decay of the bread or cake was immediately arrested if it was removed from the precincts of the farmhouse. Thus the blight was proved to be purely local. The Goblin was attached to the house or to the family.

WHAT! ALMOST CHRISTMAS TIME AGAIN !

Would you like to make two gifts in one, this coming Christmas? Or shall we say, three gifts? Do you know someone to whom you would like to make a distinctive offering of friendship - and perform a real service as well? And while doing this, would you like to help our organization also?

A gift membership in the BSRA, which includes Round Robin and many releases and bulletins, would do both these things at once - and might be a far more useful and important act in your own life than buying some costly plaything.

If you have a friend who is thoughtful, well-informed and receptive in mind, he will welcome what the BSRA have to offer. Much of the material published by us cannot be obtained elsewhere. If you have been with us for the last five or six years, you will recall that we have not been misled on any important issue. This does not imply wisdom on our part, but does point to remarkable guidance and good fortune. And we have presented novel and important data which the course of events is rapidly substantiating. We carry no propaganda and serve no special interests.

Our publications, however, are issued on a non-profit basis, and because of this fact we are often in need of funds - as we are at present. Your gift subscriptions, donations, and prompt renewals are vitally important to the BSR work. So we remind you, as the year draws to its close, that a gift membership and subscription is a three-way and long-lasting benefit.

We thank you for past favors and interest and help. It is likely that the coming year will show many strange and disturbing events. We want to share with you whatever worthwhile information we can obtain. Cooperation and mutual understanding may be of vital importance to all of us.

Sincerely - M.L.

Please extend BSRA membership, including Round Robin subscription, releases and bulletins, to the person named below:

FREAKS OF NATURE...are not entirely confined to species. Any resemblance in this harangue to persons or things, dead, alive, or in a moribund condition is purely nonsequitur. Furthermore, the views expressed are mine and may not make sense.

Five-legged dogs, hogwash, demagogs and majors are breaking into print. Primarily, perhaps, as an attempted escape from narrow confines. Naturally, some of their expressions will be resented even by the most tolerant.

As an example..."I have never met an intelligent person who puts any stock in flying saucers". With all respect due the Air Force, that wasn't a nice thing to say. Lots of us take'stock'in flying saucers.

Of course, we have no way of determining the extent of anyone's acquaintances..."Wouldn't give a plugged nickel for a report on flying saucers."... Neither would we. So far, they have been free. And beside that, it's an infraction of the law to deface coins.

As for hogwash,..we are not sure. Anyway, 'hogwash' is no phony, nothing spurious about it. It is a sure-fire louse killer, made from crude carbolic, and potent. Any suggested use of it in connection with flying saucers is premature. Even majors do not know whether flying saucers are manned by bugs and bees - or five-legged dogs.

Sure enough, a major said that if someone remarked that there were five-legged dogs on the loose on Long Island, there would be a deluge of reports from people insisting they had seen one--Ipse dixit. Evidently there is some difference of opinion concerning the I.Q. of Long Islanders. Take it easy, Major. My grandmother came from Long Island with a high I.Q.... And besides that, I have seen a five-legged dog...

Associate John Moorhus sent us the clip that started this tirade. It was from a Long Island newspaper, and we don't have the name of it - wish we did.

A BAG OR HOLLOW VESSEL FILLED WITH GAS...No matter what the purpose of the flying saucer may be in our skies, or what they do from here on out, one thing they have accomplished: The astonishing and irrational development of BALLOONERY. It is a discredit to the Nation that some enterprising lame-brain hasn't started a balloon week movement. Remember when we used to watch the balloon ascension from the Fair Grounds. The leisurely lift into the heavens - the lazy drift with the breeze, until it was only a speck up there? But it still looked like a balloon!

Those days are no more. The new age has routed the old gas-bags- I was speaking of balloons - balloons that appear instantly and disappear with equal suddenness... Balloons that descend upon us at supersonic speeds, check their terrific flight in mid-air to a standstill without effort, turn square corners and rise straight up with fantastic speed, circle our fastest jets, then out-run their gunfire, wag in the heavens like a pendulum and send forth, in a wonderful blaze of light, all the colors of the spectrum. SUCH are the balloons of today, friends - Masters of the Skyway.

Anyone who wishes to tag along after that kind of a drag-line - Well, it's all right, I guess, and I'll defend your right to do so. And all this about balloons, blimps, bladders, free or captive, is by far more extravagant and fantastic than the wildest drean ever experienced by a rabid saucer fan.

PLUMB 'FED UP' ... And after promising myself I wouldn't read any more articles on flying saucers written by professors - Oh, well, I get restive and fidgety in the waiting room of a doctor's office, and the magazine I happened to pick up was the September 'Look', and there it was, the interviewing of another professor on flying saucers. Professors impress me as struggling desperately to 'get-over' the idea that when they have once rendered an opinion, it must be final. Any ideas to the contrary can only originate in a deranged intellect.

Be that as it may, personally I can't agree with this professor, that no Saucer reports have come from any country but this one- - Now look, Doc., you can't mean that, because we have reports in our files from all over the world, backed up by a lot of reliable news services.

That newspapers keep the stories going... That's a reversed statement...Stories keep the newspapers going...

That Saucers are spider webs, floating in the breeze...And as for having a spider in the cellar to experiment with, we have 150 of them by count to work with,and after a considerable amount of experimenting, we feel safe in announcing that spiders as individuals, or as a class, are not cooperative in proving or disproving the reality of flying saucers. We will be the first to apologize to the professor and the spiders, if we are wrong.

AND STILL THEY COME.-Copenhagen, Denmark, 9/16/52. (UP) -Lt. Cmdr. Schmidt Jensen said Tuesday that he and the crew members of the Danish destroyer Willemoes spotted a 'flying body travelling at terrific speed' over the southern end of the Baltic Sea 50 miles from a Russian guided-missile base--" Arizona Republic and Gazette-Credit J.H.M.

Copenhagen - (INS)- "A flying saucer travelling at great speed from west to east was reported today to have been seen over Denmark and Southern Sweden. A cigar-shaped object and spouting fire...SA-R... 9/29/52/ -

OPERATION SKYWATCH REPORTS 'SAUCERS' IN FORMATION...over Corona, Del Mar, California...Local, 9/24/52, SA-R... "A group of Corona Del Mar residents first spotted the aerial oblongs...going through their maneuvers in precise, mathematical formations...disappearing over the ocean."

"Again at 2:35 A.M. yesterday, they were spotted by two Skywatch observers at Newport Beach. The oblongs came in from the west, over land, travelling high and in a "V" shaped formation, extremely bright and clearly outlined against a clear sky. Another group came over at 4:07 A.M., sighted by the same 'watch'-- a rounded formation travelling in the same direction, and fast."

AND THEY ARE NOT LAUGHING...They are not even smiling - During Marine practice maneuvers on a Northern Danish beach at Oslo, Norway -9/20/52 (AP)..."Saucer scare---A new element entered the exercises today when operation headquarters recorded a 'flying saucer scare'. R.A.F. airmen based at Topcliff, England, said they saw a silver-colored circular object while taking part in the maneuvers." "A British Air Ministry spokesman said the 'object' could have been a meteorological balloon." (Sure,.. and as Dr. Menzel so quaintly puts it, "The wrapper off somebody's lunch."... Or a spider web floating in front of the eyes... Other authorities, however, fail to see any humor in the situation) "---Adm. McCormic was briefed on the report at his headquarters at Pitreavie, Scotland, and authorities there said the reports were 'being treated seriously.'...SA-R...

Thank the heavens above for a small minority in this silly world- who logically persist in taking a few things seriously...Otherwise, we might still be jolting around in ox-carts... or enjoying life in trees- scratching ourselves back of the ear with our hind foot...

TWO SAUCER REPORTS GEAR IN ... The aerial oblongs sighted by the skywatch over Newport Beach bear a recognizable resemblance to the objects seen by the two pilots of the Pan American World Airways (story in October 'True' magazine).

The precise mathematical formations, speed, etc.,... 'True's' article is effectively descriptive. They picture a diagram that, strangely enough .... is so simple that I can understand it.

The Saucers, six of them, were coming toward and below the Pan-American plane. At a certain point in their flight, the discs flipped over on edge, the leader slowed up and his followers overrode... so that the whole line, when formed again, had the leader headed back the way they had come. A sharp angle from the direction of approach, then they all flipped back again, flat.

Two other Discs came from behind and below the P.A. plane, joining the other six - then they all took off. But they had made their turn within a 30-degree angle. This is the second account, to my knowledge, of a flight of Discs beneath any of our ships. The pilots said, "It looked very much as if an element of "human" or "intelligence" error had been introduced, insofar as the following two did not react soon enough when the leader began to slow down, and so almost over-ran him. The whole thing happened in 12 seconds, approximately.

JAM SESSION.... The Science boys got together 200 strong in Stuttgart, Germany. Scientists from 12 countries pooled their findings. Don't know exactly what revolutionary changes we can expect from such a concentration of profound learning... But "leave us not be bitter"...

It's possible the boys were gathered, purely for relaxation ... And from all accounts of their weighty revelations...in the newspapers, that is, they were....

Scientists are not very decided in their statements, are they? Conversation was heavy with...probably...possibly...might be... - might possibly...unlikely...perhaps... maybe... Can't those fellows ever make up their minds? Or say anything for sure?

NOTE FOR THE GOBLIN OF THE LOAF, this issue: Perhaps the most extraordinary story in modern psychical research is that of Gef, the talking mongoose, related in the last 35 pgs. of Haunted People (Carrington & Fodor, E.P. Dutton & Co., 300-4th Ave., NY 10. $3.50). This book also includes an attempted explanation of the celebrated Bell Witch case. Both the Witch and the Mongoose, however, continue to be profound and disturbing mysteries. (ML).

GOOD NEWS FOR THE WORRIED: The Sunday Mercury-Herald, San Jose, Calif. (Nov. 9, '52) prints a 6 x 3" photo of a huge interior that looks like an airplane hangar but is really the entrance to a 3-story "underground Pentagon, 65 miles north of Washington, to be used by the military if the capitol area was bombed." The Washington Post got the story and picture originally, from a "historical summary published by Army's corps engineers and gave these details: Project, costing 35 millions, is located at Camp Ritchie, Md. The 3-story structure is protected by two heavy steel blast doors, and special means are provided for ventilation, emergency power and water supply, and contains communications center designed to resist atomic attack". AIR FORCE HAS 'SAUCER' REPORT -

Washington, Sept. 26 - The Air Force has a breathtaking report on "flying saucers".

The study, prepared by noted scientists and Air Force experts, expresses the belief that some of the mysterious flying objects are genuine and that they originate from "sources outside of this planet."

That is, these devices are interplanetary aircraft of some kind.

The Air Force document contains two other sensational findings:-

In some instances, flying objects that have been sighted were actually secret U.S. missiles undergoing tests.

Russia is profoundly mystified and worried by "flying saucers" and strongly suspects they are a new U.S. weapon. The Kremlin now has four different investigations under way in an effort to discover the identity and source of the strange devices.

The Air Force study is based on more than 1,800 sightings in the past five years.

One important point stressed in the report is that the most authoritative and detailed sightings came from atomic plants and military bases and research centers.

These highly significant sightings number around 20 per cent of the total reported.

The sensational study is the work of the Air Technical Intelligence Center, Wright Patterson Airbase, Dayton, Ohio, A number of top scientists are devoting their full time there analyzing reports on flying objects. Their activities are so secret the Air Force will not permit the publication of their names.

In fact, no one connected with the project or the report would permit his name to be used.

However, Air Force authorities are considering publishing certain portions of the report. Chiefly deterring them is fear the sensational nature of the findings may cause undue public alarm.

These findings were described by a high Air Force official as "fantastic but true".

THE YADA DI' SHI'ITE ON POLIO: Polio is not, strictly speaking, a germ disease. The system becomes charged with toxins, and this creates within the body an organism that attacks the nerves. This organism can be passed along by contact, food, water etc. As to the patient, first, maintain life; then eliminate the toxins. The Koch treatment is effective in this. Be sure there are no breaks in the internal tissues. Apply hot and cold packs with massage, to body. Correct spinal maladjustments if any. Reduce all nervous tensions. Toxins may be spread by drinking water. Final recovery depends on elimination of toxins.

MORE BAD GUESSES

(San Francisco Call-Bulletin, Oct. 13,'52: Malcolm Boyd)
("Radioactivity High in Area: Effect of Nevada Tests"etc.

Radiation in the Bay area after last October's atom bomb tests in Nevada was much greater than scientists expected. In fact, according to a report circulated to health authorities and civil defense Directors, the activity was so widespread as to cause "some concern". This Report, labeled "restricted" is from the office of Dr. Albert W. Bellamy, Chief of Radiological Service og the California Office of Civil Defense, in Sacramento.

Dr. Bellamy personally confirmed that the "fall out" of radioactive particles from clouds caused by the bomb was not only heavier than predicted, but that the "persistence" of radioactivity here was another unexpected factor. "High activity was reported in the San Francisco Bay area as late as Dec. 14 and 17", Dr. Bellamy said. But he emphasized that the trace amounts of radioactivity here, as well as in Los Angeles, where the Geiger readings were even higher, were still below the "maximum permissable exposure" for human safety.

Lack of knowledge of air currents, according to Dr. Bellamy, was partially responsible for the scientists wrong guesses. One air current, he said, carried contaminatedair out to sea and then returned it in a swath 100 miles wide over the Bay region and as far north as Sacramento.

The report sent to health authorities and civil defense offices disclosed another wrong guess, when atomic detectors predicted there would be no radiation in California from a baby bomb exploded Oct. 2. Actually, the report states, "material did arrive in significant amounts until October 30."

Oakland City Health Director Dr. J.G.Geiger said he personally was "concerned with the amount and persistence of the surface contamination in the Bay area, but refused to comment on possible effects.

Radioactive particles falling in the fertile crop areas of San Joaquin Valley, especially around Bakersfield, were reported very high. What effect, if any, they could have on growing food plants,has not been determined. Dr. Bellamy believes this contamination to be well below the permissable amounts.

Dr. Ellis Sox, San Francisco Public Health Director, pointed out that radioactive clouds carried out to sea may retain their trace elements for long periods, returning them to land months later. *

What causes concern in all this, is of course the large element of guess-work and covert uncertainty back of nearly all "scientific" pronouncements about the effects of atomic radiation. Possible concentrations of radioactive material, as well as the cumulative effects on the human body, and on vegetable and animal life are almost wholly speculative. Alleged data from the Japanese areas is contradictory.

MEMORANDA FROM THE SEANCES*

YADA DI SHI'ITE Man has been upon the earth in one form or another for about 3¼ billion years ...

There is much truth in the Darwinian ideas, but scientific minds have overlooked the reality of spontaneous generation. Nature (or God, if you prefer) has many ways of producing life...

There are many 'missing links' - not merely one...

There have been human or human-like beings 30 to 40 feet tall, and there have been others whose stature would be measured in inches...

The body of man has not ceased to undergo changes. In the future it will be more ethereal, in the sense of having a higher vibratory rateof its atoms...

Sleep is a form of escapism. The man who has fully awakened will not need sleep. And it is only in full consciousness that he can attain God-ness. The awakened man will not need to build temples, but as long as he is half-asleep he needs them. There is ONE religion, ONE temple & ONE God, and they are here, in the heart...

There are many taps from which the water of life flows - from which wisdom flows. Taps of gold and of silver or encrusted with gems. Among them you will find here and there a little wooden peg... **

Be citizens of the world. Listen to all and turn toward all that call to you for help. But do not settle on any one thing as a final truth. Do not say to yourself or others, "I have it." To do this is to deny freedom to the mind. Freedom is an internal thing, a thing of the mind. It is the right to look at all things clearly...

All disease comes from the emotional self. So too with all deterioration of the body such as loss of teeth and hair and eyesight. What is needed here is detachment. Note that detachment is not the same as frustration. It is not stoic. It always includes compassion. But in experiencing compassion, do not become caught in the whirlpool.

In the case of the haunting of a particular spot, the condition of the entity depends on circumstances. It is usually an earthbound spirit and fully aware of itself and its condition. But remember that a spirit can be earthbound by love as much as by hate. Millions are earthbound by love and solicitude. What is lacking is detachment. But a haunting spirit is self-obsessed, as it were - by memories, desire, remorse and other strong emotions attached to some place or person or past events.

Look upon life always as action...

Only by detachment from values can one escape Karma. Attachments create guilt complexes. Often these are worked out in the dream world.

The phenomenon of rigor mortis in projection arises from the fact the escaping psyche does not want the physical body to follow it.

As to the "silver cord", in a sense there is none. It is a kind of fiction created to give assurance to the projected entity.

THE MAGIC BAG

Selected Paragraphs from Part II of a Work
Received Clairaudiently by Mark Probert.

KAY TING ON THE GROUP SOUL. "Up to this point I have spoken only of the human being where the Group Soul is concerned. Why physical man thinks he is operated in a manner superior to all else, I cannot understand. Surely none of his movements is different in essence." 'All his movements lead back to "eat, drink, mate, shelter yourself, and die. He is a creature of habit governed by the habit pattern of the species ...

"Birds and certain animals that habitually migrate find their destination by following ether or ground currents that play upon their bodies and excite or depress the nervous system. It may be noticed that some birds fly in a series of varied formations. The cause of these changes is the changes that take place in the ether waves and the position of each bird. We may liken these ether (not air) currents to radio beam that your great ariships follow in landing.

"Land animals follow lines of the earth that are also of a magnetic nature, in seeking more comfortable environment. Watch the confused actions of what is called a homing pigeon when he comes in contact with the lines of magnetic force around a great radio station. The natural electronic pattern flowing between the earth's matter and that of the ether has been broken up.

"A similar condition takes place where hounds in tracking a man run into the footprints of many men. Each individual carries with him a chemical radiation that flows between his body and the earth. The vibrations of the many so intermingle that no one of them can be segregated. The vibrations excite the dog's nervous system by way of the nasal passage,but are not registered as what is considered an actual odor. The sex and temperament are there, besides the type of animal that is being tracked.

"A vulture flying high in the sky knows when an animal is dying or dead by picking up the chemical changes taking place. Male moths will find a female at mating time, though she be locked up and miles away. Bees keep in the swarm by being constantly in contact with these lines of force.

"So each thing reacts according to the mechanical construction of its body. Through this mechanistic action all outer stimuli are received and referred to the consciousness in charge of that body. But it is not until after the consciousness refers the stimuli back to the "outer" world that it becomes aware of them as objects or sounds at given points in space. I am sure it is known that the eye sees only about a tenth of what it looks at, and the ears hear even less than that. The senses fall very short of giving a true picture of the so-called outer world. Man, like the animals, is under the influence of the Group Soul until he becomes aware of his own divinity ...

NOTE: After more than two years of preparation, Part II of MAGIC BAG is now available. Mimeo., 108 pgs, 7 x 10". BSRA Hdqrs. Price $3.00

ITEM FOR OCCULTISTS:

Readers of the recent mimeo-book, The Aurameter, published by BSRA Hdqrs., will recall the diagrams of the "overhead bodies" as revealed by the instrument (pgs. 33-34). Associate Theodore Berger (Corcoran,Calif) wrote us as follows about this:

> The book AURAMETER is very interesting and I have learned a great deal about the bodies. I remember vaguely having read in some German occult book, about 40 years ago, that the four etheric bodies are placed one above the other, permitting the spirit to function on all four planes. I think the teaching is Egyptian. Perhaps the Yada control could help here. I feel that the Aurameter will open up a tremendous new field for investigation...

Shortly after receiving this suggestion, the present writer inquired of the Yada di Shi'ite (Mark P. being in deep trance), and he replied substantially as follows:

" This teaching and knowledge about the four bodies does indeed derive from Egypt before the Pharaohs. The KA or psychic body rises out of the "dense" body of the hereliving person - it was the "First Bird". But all of the bodies are thought of as birds. All have wings. The wings are an outflowing of the life force. The four bodies are in and correspond to the four levels of consciousness or the four dimensions of time. In meditation, when drawing in Prana, it is directed to the end of the spine and sent as a positive electrical charge up the spine and clear to the top of the fourth body. The Esquimos know about this and represent it by the totem pole. The Esquimos are Asiatics coming from the far northern parts of the Asiatic world.They appeared first in the Gobi as a white Chinese people; later they met a dark skinned people and mated with them. This produced the Chinese people as you know them. Other blendings produced the Egyptians and the American Indians. "

Students of HUNA will recall the experience of the Englis writer Stewart, who studied Huna teachings among the Berbers of North Africa. On one occasion he asked to be shown a glimps of the High Self, and when the teacher had reluctantly assented, a mist gathered around, and in it Stewart saw "the form of a great bird." Note the Yada's expression quoted above - "all the bodies are thought of as Birds."

Etheric formations of great beauty and complexity have been seen by a few gifted clairvoyants, extending above the head and called Archetypes. They have been reproduced in paintings of exquisite beauty by Nancy Lansdale of New York. These were described in an article by Gina Cerminara, Ph.D., in the BSRA publication Flying Roll (discon.) (Beta II, June 1947). They are not "bodies" but are likely in some profound and significant relation to the forms described above.

VARIORUM

Aeroforms - and Dogs: "My mother went outside the house during the night and took the terrier with her. The cocker spaniel was there too, being tied up outside. Abright lighted object went by overhead, not making any sound. The spaniel whined and howled and the terrier acted as if something very strange was around..." (Mrs. H.Schmidt:Tacoma).

The occultist and teacher known to BSR Associates as Dr. Kappa related, that at the time the huge aeroform appeared over his house (at night, and with most grave effects on himself) the two dogs belonging to the place showed extreme distress and excitement, and ran in circles until exhausted. The sensitivity of dogs to high-pitched sound vibrations is well known; it is also known that sonic vibrations can be fatal to small animals - and very likely to man. This response of the dogs may give a hint of the resources for offense possessed by our aerial visitors. Round Robin will welcome further data along this line.

Rome, Feb.27, UP. The newspaper Libera Stampa said today that Gugliel Marconi, inventor of the wireless, committed suicide in 1937 to avoid turning over to the Fascists his "death ray apparatus". His death had been attributed to natural causes. The paper said that he tested the apparatus in the presence of Mussolini and that the ray caused all the vehicles in the area to stop. Mussolini referred to this ray in a pre-war speech when he said, "Italy will use, if necessary, a new powerful secret weapon", the article asserted.

(Clip from Philadelphis Inquirer of 2-28-45; sent to RR Aug.12, 1952, by Mrs Chas. Klauder of Philadelphia).

The Mark Probert Controls have asserted, that one principal effect of the hydrogen bomb detonation is to "increase the sensitivity of nearly all kinds of substance" i.e., to "damage the structural field of molecular and atomic matter" and so make it more liable to disintegration.

The BSR mimeo book (36 pgs)/Flying Discs ($1.50) has been reprinted and is supplemented by a 10-pg Addendum bringing the subject matter up to date. This Addendum has also been mimeographed separately, 10 pgs. (7 x 10"), Readers who have already purchased the FLYING DISCS ("Ethership Mystery and its Solution") may have the Addendum on request, - postage .06 1st class. For those who do not have the book and wish the Addendum only, price .50

The 3 pg. brochure "For Information of the Public" (8½ x 11") has also been supplemented by a 1-pg Addendum covering several important points. Two copies for .06 postage (1st class). We are trying to get this into the hands of publicists and persons in authority and BSR Associates can cooperate. Order only as many as you think you can place to good advantage. -- This applies also to "A Blunder of First Magnitude, addressed to national Authorities and warning against attacks upon the Discs. Four pgs., highly important. Single, .03 1st class - but order as many as you can use and send us any small amount you wish, to help cover our expenses.)ml)

PLIOFILM AGAIN: In April of this year we sent out a Memo. on this subject (4-Alpha-52), which concerns the use of pliofilm for neutralizing pain of sprains, bruises, arthritic joints and the like. Since then considerable information has come in, particularly from Mr. E.G. Reed of the Reed Laboratories, 41 So. High St., Akron, Ohio - also 480 Avalon Ave., Akron 20. This data is interesting and important and only the pressure of office work has prevented us from offering it to our Associates. It is perhaps too extensive for Round Robin but we hope to get it into a brochure, probably under the title THE STORY OF THE Q-ENERGY FILM. It is essential that the film used be prepared by a two-way stretching process, which we understand is done by machine at the Reed laboratories; nevertheless the two-way stretching by hand (rubbing out flat, folding and again rubbing crosswise etc.) seems to be partially effective, shown by its use by employees of the Goodyear Rubber Co. Be sure to rub the pliofilm both ways and fold into a pad. It works somewhat like a local anaesthetic and may affect the etheric body in a very useful way. Send inquiries to the Avalon Ave. address given above, at Akron.

Crowded out of this issue of RR is "THE MYSTERY OF THE WINDSCREENS" ("wind shields" to us), concerning which we have extensive notations from Associate H.L.W. Chibbett of London. There have been more than 30 cases of windshields and train windows being broken, always in daylight and from 9:00 to 12:00 a.m. - "as if" by a small bullet - but no bullet ever found, or anyone suspected, or any trail for the very best English hounds and trackers to follow - and "jet plane vibrations" ruled out. Police blood pressure is evidently high but at least they are willing to say don't know - which is more than our mystery sleuths ever admit about anything. More of this later - we hope

We have a memo. from BSR Assoc. Mrs E. Graham (Ruidoso, N.M.) to the effect that Dion Fortune's Psychic Self-Defense is being reprinted by the Aquarian Press, Lon., Eng. (Street address not at hand; inquire at your library), @ -/15 or about $3.00. This is, in my opinion, by far the best thing in print on this particular subject. D.F. was one of the most remarkable women of our time, a lecturer at the College of London (psychiatry, psycho-analysis), and Warden of the Fraternity of the Inner Light. The book is an exposition of modern operative occultism from the 'inside' and should be compulsory reading for every dabbler in occult and spiritistic matters. Any book dealer will order for you, or write Occult Sciences Library Service, 2643 No. 33rd St. Philadelphia 32, Penna.

Comments of Scoutmaster Desvergers (Palm Beach, Fla.) who had the encounter with the Disc. It cost him about $800- received more than 1000 letters, had to hire a private detective to protect his wife and answer 'phone calls, "all the book and magazine people wanted to jazz it up, but I won't deal on that basis" - people troop through his store just to look at him; neighbors poke fun at him ..." Moral; if you 'know something' don't tell nobody nuffin' - or you will throw yourself to the wolves, or to the fools who are just as bad.
